The Day Our Snowman Was Gone

It was a chilly Saturday afternoon and Katie and Tommy couldn't wait to go outside to build a snowman. Once the sun had gone down they went in for the day. When Katie and Tommy woke up the sun was out and they couldn't wait to go back outside and play. But when Katie and Tommy had gone outside to play they noticed their snowman did not look the same as it did yesterday. They went inside to tell their mom what happen and asked "Mom, why does our snowman look like that? It didn't when we made it." Their mom answered "The sun came out today and warmed up the outside enough that your snowman is starting to melt, don't you worry you and your sister will be able to build another snowman very soon."
